About BRIDGES

This Conference aims not only to bridge the gap between what has been thought of as separate and decoupled fields of knowledge (STEM – Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics – and Social Sciences) but also to think about gender differences in science(s) from an intersectional perspective. BRIDGES 2022 aims to bring together STEM and Social Sciences through active dialogue and to create a space to think about gender differences in science(s) from an intersectional perspective. We accept abstracts on the following topics:

- Inequality in Science and Academia – mapping critical problems we need to deal with.
- Reflections on the construction of science and knowledge from an interdisciplinary and intersectional perspective.
- Languages of Science – concepts and wording, dialogues, communication, and outreach.
- Strategies and approaches for an emancipated and emancipatory Science: A Science for all.
- Any field of research that incorporates gender explicitly in its investigations.

About us

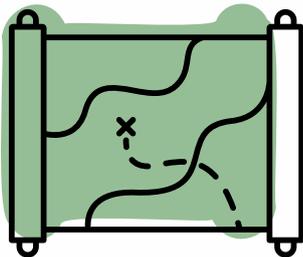

We are a group of people and organizations that believe in a pluralistic and culturally diverse world and strive to create a space to share knowledge and learn.

Conference format

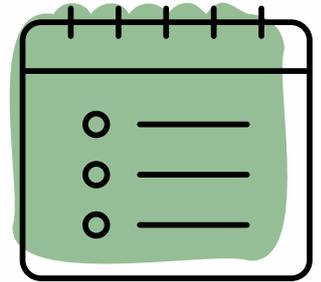

The conference will be hybrid (onsite and online) and synchronous. The online event will be synchronous, meaning that it will take place at the same time as the on-site event.

Symposia, regular sessions, and round tables will be recorded during the meeting and made available to delegates (it will not be open to the general public) shortly after the meeting ends and for a period of two months. Afterwards, all recordings will be deleted. The language of the meeting is English, however, Spanish-English interpretation will be provided under request.

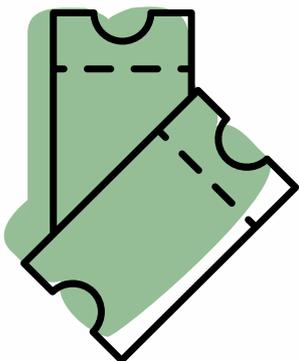

About the programme

Bridges 2022 will offer different activities, which are detailed in the programme:

- ORAL COMMUNICATIONS - Presenters will have 15 minutes (10' for the presentation and 5' for questions).
- POSTERS - All posters will be available online on a dedicated platform. In addition, those delegates attending onsite will have an onsite poster session.
- ABSTRACTS - Abstracts length is a maximum of 350 words.
- WORKSHOPS - Workshops will be online or on-site, with a maximum number of 25 attendees, and they will be a combination of masterclasses and some practical sessions.
- FORUMS - Aimed to serve as a space to discuss specific problems, with the possibility to form working groups for further action beyond the conference dates.
- ROUNDTABLES - roundtables on specific topics with invited speakers.
- KEYNOTE SPEAKERS - Each day we will have a couple of plenary talks, addressing important, broad topics.
- EXHIBITORS' AREA - On 13th and 14th of September. This space will be open during the whole day, aiming to learn, interact and generate synergies.

Conference Fees

You can see the registration fees here.

If you are unable to cover the fee (onsite and online) you can request a Fee waiver here.

For online attendance, we have divided the registration fees into five price blocks according to each country's GDP per capita. The price will be different depending on where are you living.
